PHOENIX TO NEED

The question of what is going to be done to house the equipment and take care of the men who will return with Jthe Arizona regiment of National guard, is one that is of paramount interest to Adjutant General Charles H. |

ON SERIOUS CHARGE DOROTHY GREEN

Facing the testimony of Ruth Pat-terson, the fifteen year old girl who is his accuser. Carlton Williams was held to answer to the superior court on the charge of rape. His bond was placed in the sum of $2,000 which he fur-nished. The defendant offered no defense, but his attorney, R. G. Lang-made, declared he meant to fight the case to a finish in the higher court.

The school girl related her story in tail. The only interruptions were the occasional queries put by Assistant County Attorney G. S. Cunningham or when her convulsive sobbing made speech impossible. She wore a black taffets suit, the skirt reaching only a trifle below her knees, and her hat was black with an underrim of violet. While she appeared complete-ly crushed by the weight of her own testimony as she faced the state's attestimony as she faced the state's attorney her manner underwent a change when she replied to the defendant's counsel. Her eyes snapped and her answers were short and crisp.
The girl, who will not be sixteen until January, worked in confectionery shops during her vacation. She rested a few days after the close of school and then went to work. She said she and then went to work. She said she was generally through with her work at 5:30 o'clock and she had formed the habit of dropping in at picture playhouses to avoid Williams, who was bounded in the control of the contr and then went to work. She said she constantly "tagging her." They quarrelled always she said, and he had declared she was "stubborn." Then she related how he had offered to take her to her home on the Indian school line and instead had motored mile and a half beyond the Arizona

'Did you get out of the car' "Not of my own accord," she sobbed.

The girl's mother testified as to her age and Officer L. F. Stewart, who arrested Williams and booked him on "investigation," under oath stated that Williams had said when placed under arrest, "Is it about the girl" Chief of Police George Brisbois corroborated his testimony adding that Williams had declared he had gotten a little the world laugh for thirty-three years is at his bappiest in roles that make a telling emotional appeal. Along these lines his screen art is maturing remarkably.

Its hard for a man, no matter how highe is, to heat a combination of rum and a woman. In "The Devil at His Elbow" which opens today at the Columbia, the Metro people have seen fit to send Clifford Bruce and Dorothy Green in a play that they think will startle those who are in favor of prohibition and those who do not take kindly to restrictions on their liquor. The story is of a man who has a taste for strong drink. He meets a girl of the streets, and in gratitude for her work of lifting him out of the gutter, he marries her. He is a big fellow mentally. After his reform he rises to stupendous heights in his chosen profession, and when he reaches the top, the girl who can he reaches the top, the girl who can he reaches the top, the girl who can he result that he sinks back to the level that she found him and where whe knows that she can hold his love the level at His Elbow" is the Goliath is coming to Phoenix. He will be here on October 2, which is the date that the Barnum & Bailes circus exhibits in this city. Be it known that Goliath is not the original glant of fairy tale fame, but he is quite a glant nevertheless.

The giraffe family in the Barnum & Elaley menagerie at present consists of five members and is the most valuable collection of these animals ever carried by a circus, Each member is worth approximately $6,000. Two of the animals are still babies, having been born in the winter quarters at Bridgeport, Coan., a year ago

He is the tallest giraffe in captivity and he is the pride of the Barnum & Bailey menagerie. He measures is feet from the tips of his ears to the tips of his toes, and he can pick ruit from the topmost limbs of the average fruit trees without exerting himself in the least.

Geliath was born in far-off Abyusinia, where his ancestors still roam he jungles. He was captured by unimal hunters who were members of a special expedition sent out by Barnum and Bailey in 190s. When aptured he was only a few months add and his name was not "Gollath" it that time, nor for some years thereafter. In fact he did not obtain his full growth until after his fifth cear, which was only three years ago. Since that time he has attracted a great deal of attention in America, and animal experts claim he is the
